A Warning and a Promise

by David C. Mauldin

As you enter the Sanctuary, you will notice something new. Beside the back entrance, a sculpture greets worshippers with a warning and a promise. The sculpture is called “On the Road to Damascus.” It was commissioned by Joe Kordick and created by Bill Bond in 1986. It has been given to PCPC by Phyllis Kordick in memory of Joe.

As the name indicates, it depicts Saul of Tarsus at the moment Jesus appeared to him on the road to Damascus. If you are unfamiliar with the story, you can read it in Acts 9. In the earliest days of the church, Saul persecuted Christians. His goal was to smother Christianity in its cradle. As he traveled to Damascus to deal with believers there, Jesus appeared to him. Naturally, Saul became a believer, and using the Greek form of his name (Paul), went on to become a great apostle and author of about a quarter of the New Testament.

So why this statue? And why place it where it is? You will notice Saul, with a look of terror on his face, is facing the Sanctuary. This placement is intentional. As I said, it communicates a warning and a promise. When you enter the Sanctuary, you should expect an encounter with Jesus. You are not there to be entertained. Worship is not merely a quiet hour of refuge from the frantic demands of another week. You enter that room to encounter Jesus. He has called you there. He is expecting you. You should be expecting him. Too often, of course, you are not. You either fail to notice him, or he takes you by surprise.

Jesus loves to take people by surprise. Ask Saul. He was not expecting his encounter. In worship, you should expect the unexpected. God will not always follow our script. And yet, unlike Saul, you have some idea what you are letting yourself in for. An encounter with the Living God can be frightening, beautiful, or both at once. Kierkegaard said that worship is a performance, but not in the way most people think. Some vainly imagine that the pastors, praise band or choir, and other worship leaders are performing for the congregation. This is not true. Instead, the entire congregation is performing for God. The pastors, band, and other leaders provide directions and cues. You are front and center. God is the audience.

I like that. I find it helpful. It falls short in one respect, however. God plays a more active role in worship than the theater analogy indicates. In fact, God does more than we do. He allows us to enter his presence. He empowers our praise. He hears our prayers. He speaks his Word. He convicts and comforts us. He brings us to faith. He gives himself to us. He claims us as his own. This is why you should come to worship, expecting to encounter the Lord. We have our plan, but he has his. You do not know what he might do.

When we gather for worship, the space we inhabit is not like any other space—even if it is a gym. The time of worship is not like any other time. Yes, all of life is holy, every hour, every place. But they are holy because Jesus inhabits them and because we set aside certain times and places just for him. Special times of worship render all of life holy. Without them, all of life becomes unholy. Therefore, when we worship, we are on holy ground. We ought to be aware of that. We stand before the Almighty, the Holy One of Israel. We ought to consider that. We can worship at all because of the grace he has given us through his Son, our Living Savior, Jesus Christ.

When we worship, our Living Savior is with us through his Holy Spirit. This is the warning and promise of the statue. You are about to encounter the risen Lord. Beware! He will change you. He will demand you surrender everything. Yet, he is gentle and humble. He will give you rest—and the promise of eternal life. He will make you glorious, as he is.

PCPC HILLTOPPERS

The PCPC Hilltoppers will meet on Monday, October 7th, at 10 a.m. in Langill Hall. Please come for food and fellowship followed by a presentation from Stuart City Police Sergeant Brian Bossio. Sergeant Bossio will be speaking on how to respond in the event you are ever in an active shooter situation. While not a pleasant thought, Sergeant Bossio assures us that you will enjoy the presentation and those who have heard this presentation unanimously agree. This information is good for everyone to have with the hope that it is never needed. Hope to see you there!

Has anyone ever told you that you are “over the hill” or have you ever felt that way? If you are retired on Florida’s beautiful Treasure Coast, you are not “over the hill” but rather at the “top of the hill” - a Hilltopper!

ANGEL OF THE MONTH

Our angel this month needs no introduction, though some clarification may be in order as she came to PCPC as part of a “2 for 1” with our youth director. However, more than simply “Jason’s wife,” Sherrey Pridmore plays a very individual and vital role in ministry here, particularly in the mission to our youth.

In spite of working a full-time job and being a mother to 3 teens, she does an amazing amount of observable ministry in and around PCPC—perhaps even more from behind the scenes. Affectionately called “Mama Sherrey” by many of our students (or “The Enforcer” by some of our more rambunctious youth), Sherrey volunteers at every youth function, both middle school and high school. She is one of our youth leaders, game players, truth bringers, and fun inventors. Her personality charges the youth environment and settles it when necessary. In addition to attending 2 youth nights a week, she chaperones as an active participant on all the youth outings: Puerto Rico, Rock the Universe, Camp Surf, Hurricane Relief to the Keys, etc. As part of those trips, she helps with the shopping, driving, logistics planning, and cooking of all meals. She leads small groups, has been a mentor to our Confirmation class, and has helped coordinate the Mother’s Day photo booths and the flowering of the cross (at Easter).

Thank you, Sherrey Pridmore, for all you do! You are a bright-shining angel among us.

You're Invited!

2nd Annual Ultreya

Saturday, October 19, 2019
11:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Ultreya

“Ultreya” is a Spanish word, derived from the original Latin, meaning “onward!” We use it to refer to the Pilgrimage gathering which is held either before or after a three-day weekend experience. It is a way of providing continuity and support for Christians who have been on a retreat or are preparing to go on a retreat.

If you have never been on a Florida Presbyterian Pilgrimage and would like to learn more about it, please join us. All members and families of Palm City Presbyterian Church are welcome to attend.

There will be plenty of food, prayer, songs, and testimonies. It will be a fun day for all.

If you would like additional information, please contact Florine Dian Blackshear. You can reach her by phone at (215) 600-9912 or email at f.dian.b@gmail.com.

October Prayer Theme: Recipe for a Prayer Life

by Susan Rosseau

Now that the Fall season is here—do you think of the taste of pumpkin pie, or the smell of a baking apple pie? Or how about the taste of a pumpkin spice latte cup of coffee? Have you asked someone for their recipe for that delicious pumpkin bread you got to taste? It all smells and tastes so good!

Have you ever asked someone for the recipe to their prayer life? Would you like to pray like they do? Or do you feel you just need to spice up your prayer life?

Psalm 54:2 tells us, “Hear my prayer, of God; listen to the words of my mouth.” Here are some helpful ideas about a recipe for your prayer life. Just like a recipe for pumpkin bread, read and follow the instructions:

- Devote time to the adoration of who God is! Solomon 1:4 tells us, “How right they are to adore you.”
- We should confess our sins every time we go to God in prayer. John told us, “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness.”
- We should always thank the Lord for his daily presence in our lives. Psalm 100:4 says, “Enter his gates with thanksgiving and His courts with praise; give thanks to him and praise his name.”

The Deacons’ Prayer Team prays that this will help you put a balance in your daily prayer life. Just like baking a good loaf of bread, there is a recipe to follow, and when you do, it smells good and tastes good—just like our prayer life should be when we follow the recipe!

Youth News October 2019

by Jason Pridmore

Hurricane Dorian:

Hurricane Dorian hit the Atlantic this past month as the second strongest hurricane recorded in modern history and slammed into the Bahamas, leaving devastation in its wake. As the needs of the Bahamas began to surface, people all along the Treasure Coast began to jump into action. Palm City Presbyterian Church was no exception. Led by our youth, partnering with United Servants Abroad [Don Elmore's ministry—a supported missionary of our congregation], the generosity of our church and community once again proved to be overwhelming. With little notice but with big hearts—in the course of a week—PCPC collected over 400 lbs. of food, clothes, toiletries, paper goods, water filtration systems, flashlights, bedding, tents, and first aid kits. The items were categorized, boxed, labeled, weighed and delivered to the North County Airport to be loaded onto a plane (flown by King's Wings) and delivered to Eleuthera and the Abaco Islands. The goods would then be dispersed through United Servants Abroad and the local churches, getting necessary items to those most in need.

In addition to the goods and materials, PCPC raised over $22,000 to help aid missions and Christian organizations directly doing relief work in the Bahamas. Donated money went directly to fund fuel and flights to the islands, as well as purchase items of need as the situation in the islands continues to change. We are so proud of our youth and grateful to a congregation who generously gives to those in need, exemplifying Jesus' command to "love [our] neighbors." Thank you to all who donated and helped support the Bahamas and to those working directly with people impacted by Hurricane Dorian.

*At this time, PCPC is no longer collecting material goods for the Bahamas. We are still collecting monetary donations so that the organizations on the ground in the Bahamas can directly buy the items they feel are needed. Checks can be made out to Palm City Presbyterian Church and turned in to the church office. Donations can also be made online through our website.

WYLDLIFE Begins @ PCPC

Through a ministry partnership with YoungLife Martin County, PCPC Youth Ministry has teamed up to open our doors to WYLDLIFE Middle School Club. Meeting on the second Tuesday of each month (4-5:30pm), WYLDLIFE welcomes middle school students into the Huizenga Family Life Center (HFLC) for games, fellowship, fun, singing, and the Gospel message. Seen as an outreach to our middle school community, the mission is to connect non-believing students to a Christian community and ultimately to a relationship with Jesus. This past month, we welcomed 30+ middle school students to our campus and are looking forward to growing in our numbers and our missional effect in the middle school community.

As an extended component to our missional youth outreach, the other Tuesdays of the month we will continue to open our doors and invite middle school students to join us after school from 4-5:30pm in HFLC for a time of fellowship and connection. Middle school students who want to come and play games, shoot baskets, need help with homework, or just want to "hang out" are welcome. Bring your friends!!!

Fall Festival:

This October our youth will be participating in PCPC's Fall Festival (see page 5). We are inviting our youth to enjoy the festivities and to give back to the church and the community, and even gain much-needed service hours. If you are a youth or have youth in middle school, high school, or college and would like to host some of the festival games, paint faces, hand out candy, need service hours, etc., please contact Jason at 714-809-5065.

Bruce Case of King's Wings delivered 1200 lbs of cargo to a church on Grand Bahama Island

Middle School Youth Group meets Wednesdays 5:30p-7pm for games, fun, food, and conversation.

Middle School After-School Outreach meets Tuesdays 4-5:30pm for open gym, and fellowship.

WYLDLIFE Middle School Club meets the 2nd Tuesday of the month 4-5:30pm.

High School Youth Group meets Sundays 6-8pm, (all the same as Middle School youth, with twice the fun).

More Good News about ECO

by David C. Mauldin

The Presbytery of Florida met September 20-21 at the Canterbury Conference Center near Orlando, giving us more reasons to be thankful we are part of ECO. PCPC sent a strong delegation: Elders Pat Douglas, Ruthann Hewson, and Rob Johnson, plus Pastors Brad Klostreich and David Mauldin.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Dr. Greg Wagenfuhr. Dr. Wagenfuhr has a Ph.D. in Theology and Religious Studies from the University of Bristol (UK). He currently serves as the chair of ECO's Theology Team. He is also a church planter in Cañon City, Colorado. Cañon City is not a resort town. The primary industry there is prisons, and there are 14 in the area. Dr. Wagenfuhr's wife works in a ministry that provides foster care to children of incarcerated women. I am pleased to see the person guiding our Theology Team is a church planter who works on the frontlines of ministry. I see that as an advantage for us.

Rev. Dr. Greg Wagenfuhr

Dr. Wagenfuhr gave us an update on our confessions. In 2016, the synod approved ECO's Confessional Standards. These are the Nicene Creed, the Apostles' Creed, the Heidelberg Catechism, the Westminster Standards, and the Theological Declaration of Barmen. (You can download it free from <https://www.eco-pres.org/static/media/uploads/confesstds.online.07.08.19.pdf>.) He told us a revision is coming soon that will standardize and modernize some language, but he promised nothing controversial. Synod has also requested a new document from ECO. They are not calling it a confession. They are not sure how it will fit into the Confessional Standards. They hope it will give leadership to the larger evangelical world. The goal is to present it to the synod in 2022. It is in the early stages of development.

At the presbytery meeting, we approved a new Manual of Operations for our presbytery. The good news here is, we are keeping the presbytery lean. In ECO, we do not waste time and money on bureaucracy. Churches do ministry. The presbytery supports churches. The presbytery has just enough structure to provide essential services to churches, such as approving and overseeing pastors, providing oversight and guidance to sessions, and preparing candidates for ministry.

ECO is a new movement. We remain committed to the truth of scripture and to serving others in Jesus' name together.

Rev. Dustin Sterrett and Pastor David show some ECO pride.

Greetings from the Mission Committee!

Wow, what a couple of months we have had! We are so very blessed at PCPC...Hurricane Dorian didn't leave a footprint in our town but led us to pray, think, and help.

BAHAMAS RELIEF

Our brothers and sisters in the Bahamas continue to be in great need, and we at PCPC are again blessed to be able to help. The congregation gave over $22,000.00 and contributed hundreds of pounds of goods which were collected and sorted by the youth of the church. We can feel good about our outpouring of generosity because one of the missionaries PCPC supports, Don Elmore, is directly connected to the Bahamas. Over the years, many in the congregation, including myself, have gone on mission trips to the Bahamas with Don. The Jordan Stone Mission House, which we helped build on Eleuthera, is being used to house many from outlying islands made homeless by the storm's devastation.

The water filtration equipment purchased will filter water at a rate of 50 gallons per hour. At last count, we delivered 25 of those filtration kits to the hardest-hit areas. It is difficult for me to imagine living on an island with water all around that I can't drink, cook with, or even wash in until it is filtered.

The supplies the congregation brought to church have already been sent over to the islands. Don will let us know if he needs to ask us for additional aid since their problems are not going away anytime soon. Blessings go out to Don Elmore, Jason Pridmore, and Bernie Kerr for stepping up immediately after the storm. They made sure our gifts went directly to the islands where Bahamians would receive relief as soon as our airplanes could land. Giving, helping, and praying is definitely what the Bible teaches and the thing to do. Thank you for your contributions.

PCPC MISSIONS VIDEO

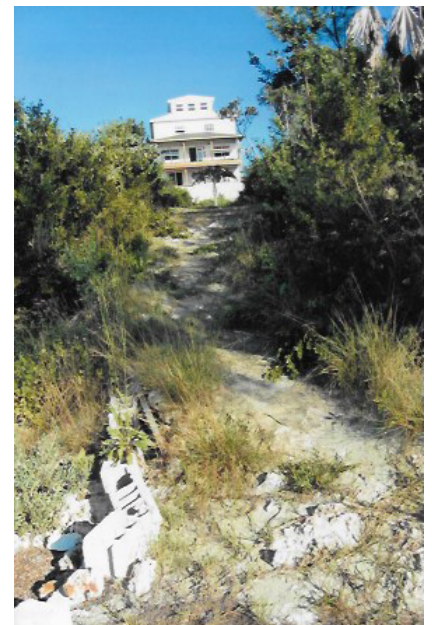

Over the summer, committee members Diana Rew and Gretchen Dewey took the vision of PCPC Missions and wrote, directed and produced a professional video that highlights the work we do on the church's behalf. We will be sharing this special video presentation with the congregation soon. Thank you to Sam Johnson, who used his drone flying skills to capture some beautiful footage for us. Special thanks to Ed Blakely, our professional videographer, who expertly filmed and edited the video clips. He created an outstanding production which will both inform and delight our congregation.

MISSION AWARENESS

We hope to continue expanding your awareness about the mission work we are doing at PCPC through the newsletter articles, the slides/announcements during Sunday services, and our new video. As before, please place any comments or questions in the Mission Committee mailbox located in the office, and we will answer them in the newsletter.

Remember to be fishers of men (Matthew 4:19).

Blessings to all of you,
Sue Henrich

Classics of Christian Spirituality 2

David C. Mauldin

Classics of Christian Spirituality's "Unit 2: Walking with Giants" begins October 9th. It features an all-star lineup of Christian writers whose names are more familiar. From last year's team, I've invited back Augustine of Hippo, John Calvin, and Fyodor Dostoevsky. I am especially excited about the Dostoevsky excerpt. In The Brothers Karamazov (only the greatest novel ever written), the saintly elder Father Zosima dies. On his deathbed, he shares with his friends what it means to follow Jesus and live a holy life. That's the part we'll read.

New to the team this year will be Martin Luther, John Wesley, and Charles Spurgeon. Luther and Wesley, you probably know. Spurgeon was a Baptist pastor in London in the 19th century and the greatest preacher of his day.

In short, we will continue to have fun and grow in our faith. We will enjoy friends new and old—both the authors we read and the people with whom we discuss them. My friends and I invite you to join us.

October Book Review by Carolyn Herman

GOD'S LOVE. We've all experienced it in some way, or hopefully, we have! But how much do we understand about all of the marvelous ways God loves us? Lauren Chandler learned more about all the ways God loves us during her husband Matt's struggle with cancer in 2011. In 2016 she published Steadfast Love. The book breaks down a verse that became ever-present in the Chandlers' lives during their cancer struggle. Sit down and learn about God's steadfast love from Psalm 107. Lauren does a fabulous job of not only explaining the verse but showing us God's different ways of loving us. She uses many familiar Bible stories to help us understand the "hesed" love or unconditional love that we see throughout the Bible. We learn more about the way God loved Adam & Eve, Joseph, Job, Jonah, the disciples, and Jesus.

The book is broken down into five parts, each discussing a different segment of Psalm 107. We learn about the Lord of steadfast love, redemptive love, tough love. It reminds us about anchors that keep us down, chains that bind us, deserts we walk through, and storms we may weather. What is constant in all of this? Well, God's steadfast love, of course. Read the Chandlers' story, and maybe you will discover a new quality of the way God has loved you!
